Christmas in The United Kingdom (a little)

In the UK (or Great Britain) families often celebrate Christmas together, so they can watch each other open their presents!

There are some customs that only take place or were started in the UK. Boxing Day is a very old custom that started in the UK and now taken as a holiday in many countries around the world.

Most families have a Christmas tree (or maybe even two) in their houses for Christmas. The decorating of the tree is usually a family occasion with everyone helping. Holly, Ivy and Mistletoe are also sometimes used to decorate homes or other buildings.

Most villages, towns and cities are decorated with Christmas lights. Often, a famous person switches them on. The most famous Christmas lights in the UK are in Oxford Street in London. Every year they get bigger and better. Thousands of people go to watch the big "switch on" around the beginning of November.

Children believe that Father Christmas or Santa Claus leaves presents in stockings or pillow - cases. These are normally hung up by the fire or by the children's beds on Christmas Eve.

In the UK, the main Christmas meal is usually eaten at lunchtime or early afternoon on Christmas Day. It is normally roast turkey, vegetables (for example, brussels-sprouts) and "all the trimming" which means vegetables like carrots & peas, stuffing and sometimes bacon and sausages. It is often served with cranberry sauce and bread sauce.

Dessert is often Christmas Pudding. Mince pies and lots of chocolates are often eaten as well. The UK is also famous for Christmas cake, that is a rich fruit cake covered with marzipan and icing and often top with Christmas themed cake decorations like a spring of holly.
